one specified district in each of the 14 States covered under the Special Foodgrains Production Programme. The details of the scheme and names of the specified districts are given in the Statement. (See below). Only a few farmers have taken advantage of the scheme so far.

Statement

The scheme provides that loans will be available to those farmers who have availed themselves of crop loans from credit institutions for raising paddy, wheat, groundnut, rapeseed/mustard, Bengal gram/Chana and arhar/tur which should not be overdue for repayment. The quantum of loan would be twice the amount of crop loan taken by the farmers or 75 per cent of the value of the produce hypothecated with the financing bank at Government announced procurement prices, whichever is less, subject to a maximum of Rs. 10,000 per individual. The rate of interest would be the same as applicable to crop loan and the repayment period would be six months from the date of its disbursement.

The scheme has been introduced in the following districts:—
